Election/Restrictions

Claim 53 is generic to the following disclosed patentably distinct species:

Species I: The invention is drawn to an apparatus comprising a control circuitry for ejecting noise into images being printed to break up possible print patterns.

Species II: The invention is drawn to an apparatus comprising a control circuitry for selectively causing a constant current signal to charge the electrical capacitance.

Species III: The invention is drawn to an apparatus comprising a control circuitry for effecting predetermined different drop velocities from different droplet ejection devices so as to provide gray scale control.

Species IV: The invention is drawn to an apparatus comprising a control circuitry for varying the amplitude of charge as well as the length of time of charge on the volume changing element for the first droplet out of the droplet ejection device so as to match subsequent droplets.

Species V: The invention is drawn to an apparatus comprising a control circuitry for charging of the electrical capacitance of each of the volume changing element as a function of a frequency of droplet ejection to reduce variation in drop volume as a function of the frequency.

Art Unit: 2853

The species are independent or distinct because they contain claimed limitations that are different characteristics and patentable over each other. In addition, there is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to requiring a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
